MASHONALAND WAR

Reports of a Battle in South Africa.

TWO HUNDRED BRITISH KILLED.

The Advices from Mozambique Says That the Matabeles Attack the British Expedition With Disastrous Results, But the Report is Not Confirmed. Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Advices from Mozambique say that the British in the Zambezi river were compelled to fit up their gunboats afloat, the Portuguese not allowing them to bring them to shore. The colonial authorities gave instructions that the British were not to be interfered with beyond verbal protest against their course, unless their gunboats engaged in hostile action on Portuguese territory.

These Mozambique advices also say it is reported that the Matabeles attacked the British South Africa expedition in Mashonaland and killed two hundred men. The report is confirmed(?). Not much credence can be given to the report of a Mashonaland massacre. Authentic news would be more likely to come from Cape Town.

Stanley's Course Condemned.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Maj. Bartelot's brother has published a letter condemning the course of Mr. Stanley in making merely covert allusions to the major's conduct while implying that it is in his power to make definite and serious charges. Mr. Bartelot expresses his belief that Stanley's reticence in the matter is due more to the flimsiness of the charges he darkly hints at than to the regard for the major's family which he pretends to feel. Mr. Stanley is coming in for some pretty harsh criticism for having permitted himself to say as much as he has already said, and it is generally the opinion that his further pursuit of the unfortunate controversy can do him no good, to say the least.

Hunting Down Nihilists.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 28.—The Russian police are showing more than usual activity in hunting down Nihilists, and arrests are being made by wholesale in St. Petersburg, Warsaw and Odessa. In Odessa most of the victims are Jews, and if no other evidence can be found against them they are deported to Siberia on the charge of violating the laws directed against that race. The police claim to have discovered an enormous conspiracy, involving at the same time a revolutionary propaganda and the forgery by millions of the paper money of the empire.

Differing on a Money Standard.

VIENNA, Oct. 28. The Austrian ministry differs from the Hungarian ministry in regard to the scheme for the abolition of paper currency, and especially as to the establishment of a gold standard. The Hungarian state secretary, Herr Lang, went to London, where he obtained the approval of Mr. Goschen, the English chancellor of the exchequer, to a plan for a return to cash payments. This trip was made unknown to the Austrian government, and an official paper of this city now declares that the Austrian cabinet has not agreed upon a single point of the plan.

Great Disasters Caused by Storm.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The storm which has prevailed throughout the extent of the Mediterranean during the last two days has inflicted immense damage upon shipping generally and in many cases upon the staunchest war vessels. The Italian Mediterranean squadron has sustained damage which it will require 1,000,000 francs to repair, and many smaller craft have been driven ashore and broken to pieces or foundered in mid sea.

M. Carnot's Tour.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 28.—The Gazette states that M. Carnot, president of the French republic, will visit St. Petersburg in May, and will open the exhibition of French products to be held in this city. He will come by the way of Moscow. After leaving St. Petersburg he will visit the Volga territory, the Caucasus and the Crimea.

Triple Alliance Conference.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—It is announced that Chancellor Von Caprivi will shortly pay a visit to King Humbert and Premier Crispi at Monza, where, it is asserted, important questions touching the policy of the triple alliance will be discussed and a better understanding arrived at.

Asking the Queen's Assistance.

MADRID, Oct. 28.—Thirty two of the Catholic bishops who assisted at the Catholic congress at Saragossa have addressed a petition to the queen regent asking the intervention of Spain to put a stop to the unjust treatment of the pope at the hands of Italy.

Burns and Booth Disagree.

Military Change in Russia.

To Defend the German Herring Fleet.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—A German torpedo boat has been sent to the North sea to defend the German herring fleet from the encroachments of other fishermen.

TELEGRAPHERS' TROUBLES.

Brotherhood Men Being Discharged by the Western Union.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—Yesterday morning four of the oldest and best operators in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph company in this city were notified by Superintendent Baxer that their services were no longer required. The men discharged are D. B. Grandy, T. I. Irwin, C. B. Groves and C. McNeil.

Of this quartette, Grandy has been twenty-five years in the service, McNeil seventeen years, Irwin seven years, and Groves five years. All are prominently connected with the local Brotherhood of Telegraphers, and claim that they were notified by the Western Union last Thursday that unless they severed their connection with the Brotherhood they would be discharged. This they refused to do, and yesterday they received notice of their dismissal.

Telegraphers Strike at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 28.—At 8 o'clock yesterday evening the entire night force at the Western Union office, consisting of thirty-five operators, walked out in a body, leaving only two chiefs to do their work. The men are all members of the local lodge of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers recently organized here. The walk-out was caused by the discharge of ten of their number yesterday, no reason being given for their dismissal. This will badly cripple the Western Union for several days as they have been very short of operators for some time.

Will Leave the Brotherhood.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 28.—Manager Ferry, of the Western Union telegraph office in this city, received orders yesterday from Division Superintendent Wright, of Cleveland, to discharge all operators who are members of the Brotherhood of Telegraph Operators. There are only three operators in the Western Union office and they were advised by the leaders of the Brotherhood to withdraw from the order to retain their positions.

SYDNEY AND HONOLULU.

Latest Advices from Those Places by Steamer Zealandia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The steamer Zealandia has arrived from Sydney and Honolulu. Albert Loomis, who was sentenced to death for taking part in the Hawaiian revolution of July of last year, and who had his sentence commuted to banishment from the kingdom, has sailed for San Francisco.

An episode transpired in the Hawaiian legislature recently that argues no good for the peace of the country. The postoffice report was under consideration when Wilcox, the leader of the revolution, said: "There will be a new government before a year, and there will be no king and I will take a hand in it." Upon being called to order, Wilcox insulted the president, saying he had no brains.

When the Zealandia left Sydney the men on a strike in the various colonies were still firm, but a conference, having for its aim the amicable settlement of all the questions in dispute, was sitting.

The New Castle coal mines are nearly blocked, 50,000 tons awaiting shipment.

The number of strikers in New South Wales has been increased to 50,000.

THE BEAUCHAMP SENSATION.

The Ex-Consul Denies the Story Telegraphed from Syracuse, N. Y.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 28.—Emery H. Beauchamp, ex-consul to Cologne, arrived from Syracuse, N. Y., last night with his family. He talked freely about the Syracuse affair, beginning with a denial of the whole story. He said: "Chief of Police Wright, of Syracuse, is the cause of all my trouble. I got on a train bound for New York, and my ticket read to Jackson, Mich. I had no money with me, and of course I could not pay my fare. At Syracuse the conductor put me off the train, and I was turned over to an officer.

"When I telegraphed for money it was sent, but the police would not let me have it. I have filed suit for $40,000 against The Syracuse Journal. I will get judgment against that paper which will stand against all other papers that published the same matter. The story of my being insane is a lie."

A Lynching Postponed.

DENVER, Oct. 28.—A mob was organized to lynch Tony Kirby, the murderer of Robert Ronan at daybreak this morning. Kirby is incarcerated in the city jail. The police learned of the premeditated lynching in time to be prepared for the attack, and the result was an abandonment of the attempt. Ronan's friends, however, threaten to kill Kirby at the first opportunity. Kirby and Ronan recently had a duel in a gambling house. Kirby dodged behind a desk in the office and killed Ronan.

Feud Among Negro Roustabouts.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—A desperate and fatal shooting affray among negroes took place on the levee about six o'clock yesterday morning. Aaron Marshall Scott, captain of the watch of the steamer City of Vicksburg, shot and killed John McIntire, a notorious negro tough and seriously wounded two other negroes named Abe Thomas and Walter Stevenson. The shooting was the result of a feud between colored roustabouts and captains of the watch on river vessels.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Annual Report of Commissioner Morgan.

OPERATIONS OF HIS BUREAU.

A Voluminous Document Giving Details of What Has Been Done for the Indians During the Past Year—Other Dispatches from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Hon. T. J. Morgan, commissioner of Indian affairs, has submitted his annual report to the secretary of the interior on the operations of his bureau during the past year. It is a voluminous document and gives in detail the acts of the bureau. After giving an explanation of the duties of the commissioner, he says there are several difficulties with which he has had to contend. There should be a solicitor appointed, to whom difficult law questions can be referred and whose special business it should be to examine and report upon all claims for money presented by Indians.

Such an officer, he says, might save the government thousands of dollars, while at the same time assist the Indians to obtain their just dues. There are urgently needed six more clerks; also one medical expert to examine the sanitary condition of Indians. The small salaries paid to agents and physicians render it very difficult to procure the services of thoroughly efficient and honest men and the commissioner recommends that their salaries be increased.

The commissioner says that in addition to ordinary routine work he has given especial attention to the following improvements: The improvement of the personnel of the service, the development of industries, the improvement of the sanitary service, the modification of the rations system, the inculcation of patriotism and the discouragement of the wild west show business.

The report devotes considerable space to the school question and Indian education. It shows that there are twelve schools in operation.

The average attendance at the training schools during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1889, was 1,878, out of an enrollment of 2,112.

There is now in operation sixty-three government boarding schools on reservations. Concerning these schools, the commissioner says they are poorly equipped. The buildings in many cases are small, cheap, inconvenient and often inadequately furnished. There were in operation during the past year 106 day-schools at various agencies, with an enrollment of 3,567 pupils and an average attendance of 2,367.

From a statement showing the amounts set apart for the various religious bodies for Indian education for 1891, it appears that out of $561,558(?), $347,688(?) were apportioned to the Roman Catholic schools; $41,850 to Presbyterian and $27,271(?) to Congregational.

The report says that the work carried on by the various religious denominations has been a very potent, if not indispensible auxiliary in the efforts of the bureau for the elevation of the Indians.

The commissioner says that one of the most difficult things to contend with in the administration of Indian affairs, is the vice of intemperance. A large proportion of the Indians live a life of idleness, and are therefore liable to yield to the temptations of drinking and gambling, as they would not if constantly employed.

The report says that the practice which has prevailed for many years of occasionally permitting Indians to travel with "Wild West" and similar shows through out the country and abroad, for the purpose of giving exhibitions of frontier life and savage customs, has been very harmful in its results, and the commissioner has, from the beginning, steadily refused to sanction any permits.

The commissioner has also received reports from the Standing Rock agency in South Dakota, indicating that the Indian millenium craze is increasing among the Sioux Indians. Great excitement over the matter prevails among the Sitting Bull faction of the Sioux, who are anxiously and confidently awaiting the coming of the millenium next spring.

Agent McLaughlin, in a long report to the department on the subject says the superstitious notion comes from the more southern Sioux, and is doubtless the same craze that has been agitating the Shoshones in Wyoming, and the Cheyennes and Arapahoes in the Indian territory. Sitting Bull appears to be the high priest and the latest apostle of this latest Indian absurdity. Sitting Bull's influence as a disturbing element seems to have increased during the last year, and this is partly accounted for, the agent thinks, by the presence of a woman from Brooklyn, Mrs. C. Weldon, who went to the agency in June, 1889, announcing herself as a member of Dr. Bland's society. She has lavished numerous and costly gifts upon Sitting Bull, and this has made the old man more insolent than ever.

The agent devotes a large portion of the report to Mr. Sitting Bull, giving him a bad reputation. He says he is a man of low cunning, devoid of a single manly trait [illegible] in his nature, or an honorable trait of character; but on the contrary is capable of instigating and [illegible] those who believe in his power to do any amount of mischief. He is a polygamist, libertine, habitual liar, active obstructionist and a great obstacle in the way of the civilization of his people, and he is truly devoid of any nobility of character."

The officials of the Indian bureau here look upon the situation as serious, but think they can tide over the trouble.

Claims for Lost War Horses.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Third Auditor Hart, in his annual report to the secretary of the treasury, says that while it would seem that the claims for horses lost during the wars of the country had about been presented and disposed of, there appears to be no sign of diminution. He approximates the number of these cases at 19,520. The disbursements for pensions during the fiscal year aggregated $101,858,619.

UNDERGROUND WIRES.

How Chicago Protects Life from the Deadly Current.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The city of Chicago is engaged in constructing a gigantic system for lighting its streets by means of electricity. The work has been three years in progress, and the results so far accomplished are of the most gratifying nature. Three power houses are already in operation, and others are fast nearing completion.

About $300,000 a year is being expended, and before the beginning of the Columbus fair the thickly populated portions of the city, embracing about fifty square miles, will have been reclaimed from the domain of the "gas syndicate" and brilliantly illuminated by means of the subtle and mysterious electric current.

The comparison between the two may well be likened to the light of the stars and that supplied by the moon when at the full, on a clear night. Not only is Chicago the first large city in America to build an electric plant for itself, but it has solved the problem of placing conducting wires under ground, thus avoiding all the numerous accidents and great loss of life which have rendered electric lighting a nuisance in New York.

The wires, which are of copper, are covered with paraffine, then with rubber, and, lastly, encased in lead pipes. The lead pipes are inclosed in others of iron, where only one line is laid in a street, and in large ones of cement, with various separate passages, where a number are run down a street to supply a distant district.

About one horse-power is required for a lamp, which is of 2,000 candle power, thirty-five being in a circuit. One lamp is placed at street intersection, and one in the center of long blocks.

Guessing Schemes.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 28.—Several merchants of this city are conducting guessing and voting schemes in advertising their business and fearing that the newspapers carrying their advertisements might be suppressed, Postmaster Neville was requested to consult Postmaster General Wanamaker whether the schemes where prohibited by the lottery law. Mr. Neville has received a letter from Attorney General Miller saying that such advertisements of guessing and voting contests may for the time being be permited to run in the newspapers.

Rittenhouse reloaded the gun, and meeting his brother shot him in the side. He next opened on his father, but the old gentleman closed on him and after a desperate struggle overpowered him.

NEW ELECTION LAW PROPOSED.

Senator Corcoran Believes That Registration and Voting at Primaries Should Be Done in One Day and Intends Introducing a Measure to That Effect at the Next Session of the Legislature. Other State Dispatches.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28.—Senator Corcoran has a number of important bills in preparation for next winter. One of them is an amendment to the election laws intended to regulate the primaries in the large cities and more especially in Cincinnati. He has not got all the details arranged, but his idea is to have but one general registration day and make that day a legal holiday and provide for the holding of the primaries of both parties on the same day and at the same place.

Mr. Corcoran thinks this would insure the attendance of every man able to vote at the primaries, as he would have to go there to register, and he believes that the party managers would agree to hold the primaries on that day in order to save the enormous expense attendant upon the present primary and convention system.

The new board of city affairs consists of Gustav Tafel and May Fechheimer, Democrats, and Dr. Graydon and T. G. Smith, Republicans.

NEIGHBORS FIGHT A DUEL.

One Dead and the Other Dying Result of a Quarrel.

ATLANTA, Oct. 28.—A desperate duel to the death was fought near Danielsville, Madison county, Saturday afternoon, in which William Sanders, a prominent planter, was killed, and William Martin, his neighbor, was fatally wounded. For some time there has been bad blood between the men. Each had appeared in court as witness against the other, and several times serious difficulties have taken place between them.

The trouble culminated on Saturday. Martin lives a quarter of a mile from Sanders and is a tenant on a plantation of Sanders sons. Saturday Sanders heard shooting in the direction of Martin's house, and looking out saw his own hogs running. He at once concluded that Martin was shooting at them, Martin having been prosecuted upon a charge of that kind before. So Sanders took his gun and started to Martin's.

When asked what he meant by shooting at the hogs, Martin said he would shoot him (Sanders), too, if he bothered him, and after a few more words the men began firing. Martin emptied his double barreled gun and five shooter at Sanders. Four shots took effect. Any one of them would have been fatal.

Sanders shot at Martin five times, three from a pistol and two from a gun. Three of these took effect. Martin will die. Sanders son was within fifteen feet of him when he fell. The son had called to the men to stop. Sanders did stop, but Martin kept on until his weapons were emptied.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The body of an old hermit named William Taylor, who lived near the Dixon iron mine at Antwerp, was found hanging in his house yesterday. He had committed suicide.

Fell Dead in His Store.

CORNWALL, N. Y., Oct. 28.—James Emslie, a well known, resident, fell dead in his store here yesterday of apoplexy. He was 38 years old.

The Great Majority

Of cases of scrofula and other blood diseases are hereditary, and therefore difficult to cure. But we wish to state in the most positive, emphatic manner that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula in every form. The most severe cases, too terrible for description, have yielded to this medicine when all others failed. If you suffer from impure blood in any way, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Melrose Abbey.

There is no doubt that Melrose abbey is yearly visited by more strangers and pilgrims from foreign lands than any other great abbey, castle or palace in Scotland, not excepting Holyrood palace, in Edinburgh, and briefly recalling its environment and history will have interest to many. The vale of Melrose, lying in the very heart of the valley of the Tweed, just below the confluence of the Gala water, the Yarrow, Ettrick water and the river Tweed, is perhaps seven miles long.

The Tweed gently curves around it from Abbotsford on the west to the vicinity of Drygrange on the east, bordering and intersecting central spaces of about a mile in breadth surpassingly rich in pastures, groves, orchards, hamlets and mansions. These are protected by heights picturesquely diversified with tender recesses and wooded braes, while immediately behind the town, to the south, rise those weird Mons Tremontium of the Romans, the Eildon hills.

Tradition has it that they once formed a single cone, which was cleft in three during an ecstacy of rage on the part of Scotland's once famous wizard—a real character of flesh and blood and authenticated black art power—Sir Michael Scott. They are noble heights, around and between which banners of mist are forever floating, as if still signaling to the old Roman hosts, the wizards, the Picts and the Druids they once knew. Sixteen grand terraces rib their lofty sides, recalling those marvelous nature riddles of the north, the weird and wondrous parallel roads of lone and far Glenroy.—Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

An Eleven Ton Powder Blast.

The huge blast of powder at Port Crescent, for which preparation had been so long and carefully made, was successfully fired at 5:30 o'clock the other afternoon. The day had been very misty, which prevented the actual movement of the rock being seen, but the effects produced are prodigious. The weight of the powder used was 22,000 pounds, and it was disposed in six chambers along a transverse tunnel seventy-six feet from the face of the bluff which projects out at the western side of the harbor. It was calculated to displace about 65,000 tons of rock, or 320,000 cubic yards. The wires formed a circuit of 40,000 feet, and the shot was touched off by means of a dynamo-electric machine.

The whole population, including many visitors, retired to a safe distance, and all doors and windows were left wide open. The battery was touched off by Miss Adeline J. Beehler, of Seattle. The displacement of rock is something over 20,000 cubic yards, but no estimate can yet be ascertained, as the rock is cracked all around within 150 feet.

The blast made an opening of about 125 feet by 75 deep, and was a complete success in every particular. The concussion was very slight, and no damage to surrounding buildings or other property was done. Not even a pane of glass was broken.—Cor. Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Strange Hallucination.

Ralph Blood, of Waterbury, Conn., a remarkably well read man, is slowly starving himself to death, the victim of a singular monomania. Two years ago he was afflicted with a slight mental aberration, from which he speedily recovered under treatment, but not until he had attempted to stab himself with a penknife, inflicting a slight wound in the breast. He thinks this wound has not healed, and under the direction of the spirits, as he believes, he has refrained from eating or drinking for nearly two weeks in order that he may be cured. He says he has not suffered from hunger, but that he would be willing to give $1,000,000 to take a good drink of water. Within this time he has lost over forty pounds in weight and appears twenty years older.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Reads Like a Miracle.

Walter C. Scott, a war veteran, lives in a small frame house at Albertis. Everybody in that section knew him as a great sufferer from injuries received in the artillery service, his nervous system being shattered, and an incessant shaking of the head was one of the outward effects. Friday his spasms were unusually severe and then ceased altogether. Then Scott got up, walked away perfectly cured and jumped over a fence next day to prove to the doctors that he was not shamming. The case puzzles the local medical world, and the only thing that worries Scott is the idea that he may lose the $72 monthly disability pension allowed by the government.—Philadelphia Times.

An Old Game.

A game almost unknown in the United States was recently enjoyed on Mr. Schepflin's green, at Dunellen, N. J., Thursday. About ten years ago, while abroad, Mr. Schepflin was invited by an English gentleman to take part in a game at bowls on a green near Liverpool. Mr. Schepflin was so pleased with the game that on returning home he built a green and procured bowls from Scotland, and invited a few of his friends to share with him the pleasures of the game.—Philadelphia Times.

A curious fact is developed by the arrest of the men in Wheeling who had made preparations to steal the [illegible] reports of sporting events from the Western Union wires, and that is that there is no law there against the tapping of wires. The parties were arraigned as suspicious characters.

A [illegible] of the [illegible] the Loma Prieta [illegible] sensation [illegible] 13. Eight [illegible] the engine at Monte Vista [illegible] miles north of Aptos. The road from Monte Vista to Aptos is a [illegible] down grade the entire distance, and the cars soon after starting attained a tremendous rate of speed, and passed through Loma Prieta at a mile a minute.

The flying cars kept on the track until they had gone the entire eight miles to Aptos. Here four of the cars turned on to the main track without derailment, two running as far as the [illegible] at the west end of Aptos, and [illegible] stopping near the station. The other four cars dashed off the track and were smashed into bits.

How the cars kept on the track for eight miles at such a speed over a curving mountain road is wonderful. No one was on the train at the time it started, and no one was injured, the only loss being the four wrecked cars. Railroad men claim the train made the eight miles in four minutes.

The down passenger train from Santa Cruz, bound for San Francisco, had a hairbreadth escape from destruction. The passenger train had passed the place where the runaway came onto the main line but a minute and a half previously. One of the wrecked cars struck a cypress tree forty feet high and a foot and a half in diameter and laid it flat, almost tearing it from the ground.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

Naval Prize Money.

Some interesting particulars in reference to the apportionment of naval prize money and bounties are contained in a return which has recently been printed by order of the house of commons. From this it appears that during the financial year 1889-90 the sum of £8,322 was paid over by the accountant general out of a total of £63,365, which has accrued during the last thirty-eight years, including shares allotted to the Naval Brigade for services rendered during the Indian mutiny and booty gained during the Chinese war of the same decade.

Of the balance, £47,500 has been paid over to the consolidated fund since 1865 in accordance with the act of parliament, and £7,513 remains in hand should claimants arise. A curious feature of the return is the fact that out of £20,156, the proceeds of captured slave dhows during comparatively recent years, only £8,185 appears to have been claimed. The government percentage account shows a total of £13,161, and out of a balance in hand on April 1, 1889, of £3,981 only 16s. 4d. seems to have been paid during the year on account of claims arising prior to 1865. The total sum transferred to the consolidated fund since 1855 is £83,500, in addition to £173,000 referred to in the annual account for the year.—Galignani Messenger.

Worthless Watermelons.

During the season the watermelon business was the best it has ever been. Prices were high and sales large, for melons have been better than usual this year. So good was the business that the river men who were engaged in bringing the melons went back to the York river region, down the bay, and brought large loads up there, expecting to realize handsomely. Then the cold snap set in, and the melon operators were all dumped. At one wharf on the river front there were 40,000 melons [illegible] begging at $1 to $3 a hundred. [illegible] those prices. Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. FADS IN FANS

Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer has a fan painted by Seloir and valued at $2,000.

Mrs. Whitney has a very valuable point d'Alencon fan, mounted on a framework of gold.

Mrs. Coleman Drayton has a vellum fan, painted with a scene from Spanish history and mounted on carved sticks of sandalwood.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid has a most exquisite affair in the shape of a fan. It is of white silk, embroidered in colors and ornamented with small pearls.

A fan belonging to Miss Furniss was painted in Spain in commemoration of the signing of the treaty of Utrecht, with the inscription upon it, "Pour l'amour de la Pay."

Of beautiful and costly fans owned by New York ladies, one is a Chinese affair belonging to Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt. It is a very dream, so delicate is its ivory carving.

The fan which Mrs. Levi P. Morton carried on the night of the centennial ball is an heirloom—exquisitely carved ivory sticks and charming water color painting on white silk.

Mrs. Jesse Seligman has many costly fans. One of the Louis Quinze period has depicted upon it a scene from harem life, and is decorated with gilt and silver medallions upon kid.

Perhaps one of the choicest of fans is one belonging to Mrs. Newbold Morris. It is of crepe lisse, delicately painted, edged with point d'Alencon and mounted on sticks of mother of pearl.

The late Mrs. John Jacob Astor had a magnificent collection of fans, one representing the "Toilet of Venus." The sticks in ivory are overspread with the Vernis Martin, showing a surface of great brilliancy.

"The Swedish Nightingale," Christine Nilsson, is an enthusiast in the matter of fans. She has a collection of rare and beautiful specimens. Among the number is one which was presented to her by the ex-Empress Eugenie.

Mrs. Hicks-Lord is the possessor of a fan composed of the finest and daintiest point d'Alencon, with an artistic combination of leaves and flowers. The frame is of white figures, with any quantity of ornamentation in gold. It is worn suspended from a chain of diamonds and pearls.

LITERARY LIGHTS.

Lord Tennyson is an enthusiastic friend of birds.

William Black, the English novelist, says he writes to entertain and not to instruct.

The birthplace of Homer is unknown, though he is deemed the most famous poet that ever lived.

Gen. Lew Wallace has a royalty of fifteen cents from each copy of "Ben Hur" that is printed. His usual income from this source is between $4,000 and $5,000.

Will Carleton, the popular poet, is a broad shouldered, erect, handsome man, looking like a soldier rather than a poet, and always dressed with scrupulous care.

The great French religious writer, Ernest Renan, is spending the decline of his life in his native village in Brittany, where he occupies a small one story villa overlooking the Bay of Biscay.

FOSTER AND GIBSON

Their Appearance at Music Hall Monday Evening Greeted With Enthusiasm.

By far the most enthusiastic political meeting held in this city during the present campaign was that of Monday evening when ex-Governor Chas. Foster and Gen. W. H. Gibson, "the old man eloquent," spoke to the hundreds.

At about 8 o'clock the speakers, accompanied by Messrs. W. Z. Davis, J. F. McNeal, J. J. Hane and J. J. Williams appeared on Music Hall stage and Mr. McNeal announced to the audience, which was jammed beyond the seating capacity of the hall, that Mr. Davis would act as chairman of the meeting. This announcement was received with applause, and the chairman proceeded with a very complimentary introduction of Mr. Foster. That gentleman spoke for over an hour in his pleasant straight forward manner. He had noticed that the bands were not playing "The Campbell's are coming," but he congratulated the governor in getting rid of his abominable Cincinnati B. P. I. He reviewed the history of the republican party, following a line of argument to inspire faith and confidence in the party. He dwelt especially on the beauties of the protective policy of the party, its tendency to foster industries and protect wages. He did not believe that protection made monopolists, and his reference to Cal. Brice's shrewdness was a happy hit. Had a good deal to say about tin plate, and believed that within five years that article would be manufactured in America by American workmen, at less cost than at present. Mr Foster admitted that he needed democratic votes, and believed confidently that he would get them. His speech was well received and he was greeted with loud and enthusiastic cheers.

Gen. Gibson was next introduced by Chairman Davis, and the old gentleman was received with hearty applause. Mr Gibson was himself in every particular, and that meant a treat of oratory, patriotism and inimitable humor. He spoke for over an hour on the history of the country and particularly the republican party. It was a characteristic speech of Gibson, enjoyed hugely by the large audience, which responded with long and lusty cheers, and the speaker made more admirers if possible than ever before in Marion.

The meeting was a pronounced success in every particular.
